As we pause to celebrate our bountiful heritage in the homes of people who are close to us, it is valuable to reflect on the great courage and sacrifice of the first small band of Americans on the bleak and hostile shore of the coastal town of Plymouth.

May the joy of that first day of Thanksgiving carry on and light your day of Thanksgiving.

WOMAN'S CLUB HAS GUEST NIGHT

The Mattapoisett Woman's Club held their annual guest night November 18th at the Old Hammondtown School.

Members and their guests were greeted at the door by the president, Mrs. Clarence Fountain, and the first vice-president and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Murray.

The program opened with an invocation by Mrs. Charles Smith, the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag and the singing of "America the Beautiful", accompanied by Mrs. Louis Corey at the piano.

Mrs. Fountain introduced special guests: Mrs. Marshall W. Ross, president of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. Frank Oxnard, chairman of directors of the Federation.

Mrs. Charles Jenks, program chairman, introduced the guest speaker, Mr. John Hough, from the Massachusetts Council on Crime and Correction, Inc.

Mr. Hough painted a grim picture of life in prisons today. In hope of improving conditions, the inmates themselves are forming committees to air their grievances. Some of the changes they are suggesting are better food, improved sanitary conditions in the kitchens, black and Spanish speaking tutors, and a revision of disciplinary procedures. As one lifer put it, "Keep your walls but let us change what is going on inside."

The Council feels that if only some of these petitions are granted that another "Attica" could be prevented here in Massachusetts.

Members and guests were delightfully entertained by the very talented Michael Brigida at the organ. He played several tunes including "Hello Dolly", a medley of Latin songs, "Cabaret" and "Raindrops Keep Fallin' on My Head". Mr. Brigida also demonstrated the sounds of several orchestral instruments on the synthesizer. His performance ended with Lara's Theme from Dr. Zhivago.

The Antique Study Group had copies of "Old Mattapoisett Tales" for sale.

Cornucopias overflowing with fruit adorned the refreshment tables. Coffee, sandwiches and cookies were served by Mrs. Alden Kinney and her committee.

"THE MAN WHO CAME TO DINNER" PLEASES LARGE AUDIENCE

The Looking Glass Players' production of "The Man Who Came to Dinner!" was highly entertaining as they performed in the Moss Hart and George Kaufman comedy. Nancylee S. Gaucher directed the group in the play presented on Saturday night at Bristol Auditorium at Old Rochester Regional High School to a very appreciative audience.

Richard Helfand played "the man" with aplomb and was excellent in a lengthy and demanding part of an ego swollen man of great affairs. Sally Jones, as his secretary, was fine foil for the central character. She played the part with just the right mixture of affection and understanding of her self-centered, demanding boss.

Steve Whitney was a comedy highlight in the part of Beverly Carlton, a caricature of a Hollywood actor. He was very funny in this small role. Alix Kyle played the role of the Hollywood "sexpot" in believable style.

The play revolves around the literary lion who comes to dinner and breaks his hip on the front steps. He then takes over and intimidates the household of the Stanleys, played by Martha Lorentz and Joel Hartley as Mr. and Mrs.; Mark Roberts as their son and Diana Thomas as their daughter. Kim Randall plays the pixilated sister Harriet. Gail Roberts provided some great comic moments as the suffering nurse who finally leaves the profession to "work in a munitions factory". Jeff Dunn, as a young journalist, provided the romantic interest and did a nice job as he was torn between the charms of Sally Jones and Alix Kyle. Ben Dunn was busy as John the butler and Banjo, a lighthearted character. Scott Atkinson played the doctor who was also the author of a great medical novel.

The play is finely meshed interplay between some very broadly drawn characters. It is a sophisticated satire and to the credit of this young group they did it extremely

A letter was received from the Council on Aging stating that the Council is opening a Drop-In Center on December 1 on the lower floor of the Congregational Community Center. This will be open from 11 A M. to 4 P.M. Monday through Friday, and volunteers are needed to staff it. The Sippican Seniors will continue to meet in the upstairs auditorium on the first and third Wednesdays of each month. Rooms will be available also for any classes on crafts or educational programs that are anticipated for the future.

A covered dish luncheon was selected for the Christmas Party on December 15th and Mrs. Lillian Fuller was appointed chairman of a committee to get this organized. There will be a Christmas tree and each member will bring a gift.

Because of the lengthy business meeting the games party was postponed until a later date. A very pleasant social time was enjoyed, with refreshments being served by Mrs. Catherine Giffin's refreshment committee.

The next meeting will be held at 2 P.M. December 1st in the Congregational Community Center with a program to be announced later.

Holy Land Tour

TRAVELOG ON ISRAEL

All interested persons in the area are invited to a travelog on Israel to be given by the Rev. Norman Helm, pastor of the First Congregational Church of Fairhaven, on Tuesday, November 30th, at 7:30 P.M. in the Marion Congregational Community Center.

Mr. Helm was one of the leaders of an area group who toured the Holy Land last February under auspices of the Interchurch Council of Greater New Bedford. His illustrated description of the trip is said by those who have heard him to be extremely entertaining and inspiring.

Before going to his pastorate in Fairhaven, Mr. Helm served as Chaplain and teacher at Tabor Academy, while preparing for the ministry at Andover-Newton Theological School. He will accompany another group on an Interchurch Council-sponsored tour of Israel next February.

The travelog is being arranged by the Marion Ecumenical Council, comprised of representatives of the local churches. Refreshments will be served after the program.

A Welcome Move

Editorial, D.C.J.

Residents of the village of Mattapoisett can hardly have failed to notice that Selectmen and Police have initiated a positive program designed to eliminate a public nuisance. The permissive benevolence of the past few years has resulted in a growing gang of unruly, noisy hangouts who have made town life unpleasant and unsightly. Police Chief Al Faria has now instituted a foot patrol to see that peace and proper conduct will be the normal behavior pattern instead of rarity. Every resident of the central village will be grateful for this change which will reverse a deteriorating trend. Residents, who have complaints, can be assured of prompt action. The Mattapoisett Police should be encouraged and backed all the way in this effort to restore decent conduct and quiet to the streets and parks of the town so that everyone can enjoy them.
